

Dublin Road and Ringwood East Station

Final landscaping design

- Station entrances
- Station forecourt
- Station platforms
- Rail trench
- New and existing landscaping
- New shared use path
- Existing shared use path
- Pedestrian path
- Signalised intersection
- Lifts
- Stairs
- Parking
- Accessible parking
- Parkiteer
- Existing bus stop
- Drop off and pick up zone
- Taxi pick up/drop off zone with seated waiting area

Artist impression only, not to scale and subject to change

A mix of native trees, including the bundy and golden wattle, will be planted to complement the surrounding area.

Golden wattle
There will be colourful native landscaping north of the station, including golden wattle trees surrounded by shrubs such as the common correa and cushion bush, which are fast-growing and can tolerate tough weather.

New welcoming forecourt
Artists impression. Subject to change

Australian indigo
The eastern end of Railway Avenue will be landscaped with a mix of native planting such as the Australian Indigo, gold dust wattle and cinnamon wattle. These plants are bright and beautiful and provide important habitat and food for local wildlife.

Rail under road

Station platforms

Level crossing free Dublin Road
Artists impression. Subject to change

Hop goodenia
The new station precinct will be revitalised with new native landscaping, including the hop goodenia, Queensland brush box and black anther flax lily.

White correa
The new station forecourt area will provide fresh open space and an abundance of landscaping, including the white correa, silver wattle, dwarf lemon scented gum tree and cherry clusters grevillea.

Looking west towards the new Ringwood East Station on Railway Avenue
Artists impression. Subject to change

