

GLENROY ROAD, GLENROY - APRIL 2022

From 26 April, trains will stop running on the existing tracks. From 9pm 6 May, the new station will be open.

CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

The Victorian Government is removing the level crossing on Glenroy Road and building a new Glenroy Station. By Saturday 14 May, the level crossing will be gone for good with trains running to the new station.

The countdown is on to a level crossing free Glenroy Road. From Tuesday 26 April to Saturday 14 May, we will be working around the clock to remove the boom gates on Glenroy Road and get the new station ready for passengers.

From 9pm Friday 6 May, passengers will be able to catch the train from the new Glenroy Station, with access from Hartington Street only until mid-September.

Glenroy Road will reopen on Saturday 14 May. While the road is closed, pedestrian access will be maintained across the level crossing at all times.

During our upcoming works the following changes will be in place:

- Dowd Place is closed until mid-September as we build the new car park, remove the old rail infrastructure and complete the western station entrance
- Glenroy Road will be closed from 26 April until 14 May as we remove the old boom gates and tracks
- Buses are replacing trains on the Craigieburn Line from Tuesday 26 April to Friday 6 May

- Station Road is closed from 26 April to 13 May between Glenroy Road and Meaker Avenue. Local access will be maintained for businesses and residential properties
- Four car spaces will be temporarily removed on sections of Post Office Place
