Pedestrian changes, reinstatement and public realm works

Grattan Street west, between Flemington Road and Elizabeth Street

6 September to late October 2023

The Parkville Station precinct is moving into the final phase of construction with reinstatement and public realm works underway.

On the southern side of Grattan Street, between Flemington Road and Elizabeth Street, reinstatement and public realm works are ongoing in the westbound traffic lane and southern footpath until late October, with pedestrian access around the site to change from early September.

What we are doing

- Continuing reinstatement and public realm works on the southern side of Grattan Street west, between Flemington Road and Elizabeth Street.
- These works include installing services, utilities, the permanent road and footpaths and involves non-destructive digging, excavating, saw cutting, asphaltting and linemarking.

What to be aware of

- To facilitate the next stage of these works, a north-south Grattan Street pedestrian crossing at Royal Parade/Elizabeth Street will reopen under the control of traffic management
- The interim Grattan Street west mid-block pedestrian crossing will close
- A section of the southern Grattan Street footpath, between Flemington Road and Royal Parade, will be closed until late September for these works
- Access to local hospitals, buildings and businesses will be maintained at all times
- During this time, pedestrians will be diverted to the northern Grattan Street footpath

- From late September to late October, east-west pedestrian access on the southern side of Grattan Street will be maintained via minor, temporary diversions through the Grattan Street west site
- Wayfinding signage will be adjusted around the precinct to assist pedestrian movement
- Other Metro Tunnel works are occurring in the Parkville Station precinct. These works may result in additional changes to how pedestrians, cyclists and vehicles use the area.
